BIG BERRY CHEF:

ŽGANCI, A TRADITIONAL SLOVENIAN BREAKFAST BY DANILO PAVLOVIČ

The 6th BIG BERRY chef was Danilo Pavlovič, owner of the Kmetija Pavlovič, who cooked a Slovenian traditional dish called Žganci.

According to him, this dish is commonly known among Slovenians for making people stronger: “Every day after farmers go back home from work, this dish is ready for them to eat”, and this is the way Slovenian farmers have been reposing their energy during the past couple of years.

Indeed, Žganci is still a food, printed in the Slovenian’s memory as a vigorous food font of strength and energy. Prepared differently in each region, Žganci is still eaten in every Slovenian house.

In Bela Krajina region, it is normally served with coffee without caffeine, and that was the exact way Danilo prepared Žganci for BIG BERRY people and guests.
